Cell phone wifi repeatedly cuts out
2019/08/21

I'm not entirely sure how to explain this, but my mom and I have been having this problem for well over a year and frankly we are sick of it. What will happen is that we will be on the internet and after maybe a few minutes the wifi connection will just stop loading anything, we can wait minutes and it still won't load anything. However, the instant that we disable the wifi connection on our phones, the page/video will load instantly. Sometimes on iPhone's "Safari", after we disable the wifi, it Yeah will say something along the lines of "Safari cannot display the webpage because the internet connection was lost", but I have never seen it say that on anything outside of Safari. We are about the furthest thing from computer people, so maybe it is something obvious that we are doing wrong. Regardless, neither one of us have any clue as to how to fix it. Does this issue I'm describing sound like anything to anyone? Thank you in advance
